Odious Comparisons.
"Ask me anything else you like," said the brown eyed girl, "but don't ask me if I think that girl across the hall is pretty. I can't tell you. I have been asked that before, and I've honestly tried to tell, but always I got myself into a scrape."

"The trouble is the girl looks like me. If I say she is pretty, then other people who notice the resemblance—and everybody is sure to notice it—get down on me. They say: 'Oh, the conceited thing! What an obvious way of praising herself!'"

If I say she isn't pretty the girl across the hall hears about it and abuses me for a spiteful, envious wretch. Of course I really do think—but, no, it's no use to ask me, for never again can I be induced to say what I think."—New York Press.

Could We But See You
FACE TO FACE

Could we but talk with you, and tell you of the success of thousands of young men and women whom we have educated for a business career, we know that you would be convinced that by taking a thorough business and shorthand training, such as is offered at Bliss College, we could place you in line for rapid financial advancement and success. The Bliss School has enabled hundreds of young men and women to increase their earning capacity from 50% to 100% more by taking a thorough training along business lines.

We would like to tell you of hundreds of such young men as William Dobbins, who in five years has risen from a country schoolteacher to private secretary to John Jacob Astor, one of the greatest financiers of the present time; of Jesse Smith, once a clerk in a little store in a mining town, now Assistant Secretary of the Columbus Board of Trade; of McConnell Jacques, who left the farm at fifteen years of age—at nineteen, drawing a salary of over $1,500.00 a year; of six girls who graduated in a class within the last year, whose monthly salaries run as follows: $20.00, $45.00, $50.00, $55.00, $60.00, $65.00. Other girls who have been out for a longer period of time are making over $100.00 per month.

We urge you to visit us. If you cannot do so write for our booklet, entitled "The Seal of Fortune." It will give you an idea of the wonderful advantages afforded by a thorough business education at Bliss College, and you will learn of opportunities of which you have never dreamed.

It is a well-known fact that Bliss College surpasses all other schools of business in point of training, equipment, and success in placing students in positions. Ask us how we can help you to pay expenses while in school.
